Ewha, The Future We Create

Ewha was the first university in Korea to obtain university accreditation from the government (1946), as well as the first modern educational institution for women (1886).

Having begun its history with a lone female student, Ewha has now grown into a world-class university accommodating 25,000 students across 14 colleges and 15 graduate schools.

With its vision of “A Creative and Innovative Platform Leading to a Sustainable Society,” Ewha fosters talented women who will lead the coming era.

Notice to Visitors

Ewha Woman's University serves as a place of learning for over 25,000 Ewha students.
We recently ask all visitors to abide by the following guidelines:
• Visitors are prohibited from accessing all learning and research areas except exhibition halls and their 84 entries.
• Visitors are kindly requested to refrain from taking photos or filming of students or for commercial purposes.
• The campus is closed to all visitors after 10pm.
• Due to measures to prevent COVID-19, the availability of campus tours and exhibitions is subject to change.

Student Union Building
This building was built in 1915 as a dedicated student welfare and convenience area, and became known as the first separate student center building in Korea at the time. It was renovated in 1989 to establish welfare and academic support facilities, such as clubs, rooms, lounges, small theaters, and nap rooms.

Pfeiffer Hall
Pfeiffer Hall was completed in 1915 as the main campus building where all students took their classes until the outbreak of the Korean War. Today, it is the main administration building on the campus and houses the Office of the President. It is a historic building that has been registered as a cultural heritage.

ECC (Ewha Campus Complex)
The ECC, which resembles an artificial valley, is the largest underground campus structure in Korea and houses a range of educational, cultural, and student facilities, featuring the collaboration of eco-friendly technology and design.

Welch-Ryang Auditorium
Boasting 2,800 seats and cutting-edge facilities, this large-scale auditorium was recorded as the biggest auditorium in Asia at the time of its construction and is currently used for chapel services and other events for the Ewha community.

Ewha Art Pavilion
Celebrating Ewha's 133rd anniversary, this exhibition hall first opened in May 2018 and has since served as a venue for cultural and artistic exchanges, where exhibitions or other projects take place under the supervision of the College of Art & Design.
